

There is one pitfall with working from home, it is overworking and never truly switching off from thinking about work. So how do you keep a balance between work and “you” time?

Have A Separate Work-Only Space

Schedule Downtime

Stick to a workweek

Prioritize self care

